MEDICAL REPORT ON AJAYI ABIMBOLA ADEJOKE

Our attention was drawn to the unfortunate death of MISS AJAYI ABIMBOLA ADEJOKE, a student of the Department of Leisure and Tourism, The Federal Polytechnic, Ilaro. She was brought to the Medical Centre after complaining of abdominal pains during her practical class. Due to the nature of her case being an emergency, she was quickly attended to without requesting for her clinic card as she was brought to the ward and assisted by the security guard on duty.

One of our doctors quickly attended to her while vital signs (blood pressure and pulse) were taken by the nurses.

Examination revealed a lady that was very pale (from loss of blood), unrecordable blood pressure and pregnancy test was positive. A possible diagnosis of ectopic pregnancy (pregnancy outside the womb) to rule out criminal abortion was made. She was quickly taken in the school ambulance with one of our nurses and her boyfriend to the closest private clinic where urgent abdominal scan was carried out on her. Her parents were duly informed through her boyfriend and asked them to come to Ilaro.

The scan revealed that she was pregnant and the baby in her womb was already dead possibly from abortion to terminate the pregnancy. She was admitted at the private clinic but her condition deteriorated beyond all medical interventions administered on her.

She later gave up the ghost as all efforts to resuscitate her failed. May her gentle soul rest in peace.
